Table of Contents

To Our Shareholders

2014 2nd Quarter versus 2013 2nd Quarter Highlights

- Net sales increased by 33.2%
- Gross margin improved from 13.6% to 15.7%
- EPS increased to $0.17 (Basic), an increase of 21.4%
- EBITDA increased by 30.6%

The second quarter of 2014 reflects the efforts the business is making as it continues in a year of significant transformation, with positive indications in a number of areas. Net sales of $79.5 million were driven primarily by the acquisition of Flexible Products which we made in October 2013. While our Rubber Compounding and Engineered Products businesses continue to face some challenges we are focused on operational initiatives, such as production efficiencies and control over raw material purchasing, through which all of our businesses were able to deliver meaningful gross margin improvements over the prior year. EBITDA for the quarter was $7.9 million, up 30.6% over the same period in 2013.

Volumes in our Rubber Compounding business continue to be challenged, predominantly by softness in the mining segment and correspondingly in OTR tire retreading associated with the mining industry. We are making progress penetrating the oil & gas segment and are aggressively pursuing opportunities to further reduce the influence of a weak mining sector on the business. We do see signs that volumes will improve over the remainder of 2014, primarily with our major tire customers and expect tolling volumes to increase versus the first half of the year.

Continued weakness in defense spending, particularly in North America, continues to impact our business although there are some indications that both US and Canadian demand may be improving in 2015. We anticipate some North American and international tenders to be released in the second half of 2014 that we expect to participate in which could result in improved performance in 2015. We have increased our global reach, adding dedicated sales people to cover certain overseas markets and are beginning to see the results of these efforts. We also have several new products, with significant design improvements, that are in various stages of development in both our defense and industrial products businesses.

Flexible Products has been an excellent addition to AirBoss' business, with sales in line with our expectations and margins ahead of plan. The integration has gone very smoothly and while it has been immediately accretive, we feel there is more room to reap the benefits of the inherent synergies and to take advantage of its growth opportunities.

To Our Shareholders

Outlook

At the end of 2013 we outlined four areas of focus to drive AirBoss' performance initiatives on both the cost and revenue side:

1. Operating Margin Improvement
2. Global Growth
3. Leadership
4. Acquisitions

We have begun making changes within the business necessary to support these initiatives and while some of our markets are challenged and we expect them to remain so for the remainder of the year, we are seeing the results from our efforts.

We continue to aggressively pursue options to accelerate growth both organically and through additional strategic acquisitions and are encouraged by the many opportunities we see before us.

Non-IFRS Financial Measure

This MD&A is based on reported income in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS") and on the following non-IFRS financial measure:

EBITDA	Earnings before interest income, interest expense, income taxes and depreciation and amortization

EBITDA, a non-IFRS measure, is directly derived from the consolidated financial statements, but does not have a standardized meaning prescribed by IFRS and is not necessarily comparable to a similar measure presented by other issuers.

The Company discloses EBITDA, a financial measurement used by interested parties and investors to monitor the ability of an issuer to generate cash from operations for debt service, financing working capital and capital expenditures and paying dividends. EBITDA is not a measure of performance under IFRS and should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for net income under IFRS.

A reconciliation of this measure is presented below:

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS – 2014 compared to 2013

NET SALES

Net Sales increased by 32.3% in the first six months of 2014 compared to 2013 primarily from the positive impact of Flexible, partially offset by declines in both Rubber Compounding and Engineered Products.

[1]2013 Comparative figures include sales to Flexible Products prior to acquisition. For purposes of comparative analysis below, this has been removed.

Rubber Compounding

After eliminating intercompany sales to Flexible Products of $3,957 for the quarter and $7,614 year-to-date, sales volume, expressed in pounds shipped, declined by 4.1% for the three-month period ended June 30, 2014 and 3.1% on a year-to-date basis, as compared to the same periods in 2013. For purposes of comparative analysis below, the Rubber Compounding sales to Flexible prior to the acquisition have been removed for consistency with the elimination of these intercompany sales post acquisition. Sales dollars for the quarter decreased by $5,324 and $9,266 on a year-to-date basis. Raw material prices were down 7% on both a second quarter and year-to-date basis as compared to the same periods in 2013, resulting in corresponding decrease in sales dollars as these savings were passed on to customers.

Tolling volumes increased by 26% for the second quarter and 31% on a year-to-date basis as compared to the same periods in 2013; tolling rates were consistent with those of 2013 on both a second quarter and year-to-date basis. Volume for the non-tolling portion of the business continues to be challenged, particularly by declines in the conveyor belt, OTR retreading and defense segments, which were partially offset by improved volume in the oil & gas segment in the second quarter.

Sales volumes are expected to improve in the second half of 2014 driven by additional major tire business.

AirBoss Engineered Products

AirBoss Engineered Products ("AEP") sales decreased by $2,854 in the second quarter as compared to the same period in 2013; of this a net decrease of $66 was related to lower volumes and a net decrease of $2,788 from pricing and product mix. On a year-to-date basis, sales decreased by $8,930 compared to the same period in 2013; of this a net decrease of $8,260 was related to lower volumes and a net decrease of $670 from pricing and product mix.

Sales of CBRN overshoes and gloves declined $1,812 and $567 respectively in the quarter as compared to the same period in 2013, primarily as a result of the expiring contract with the Department of Defense ("DoD"), offset by an increase of $1,008 in other products.

On a year-to-date basis, sales of CBRN overshoes and gloves declined $5,561 and $1,538 respectively in the quarter as compared to the same period in 2013, and were offset by an increase of $1,094 in other products. Sales in new geographic markets are gaining traction and there is an opportunity to increase these CBRN product sales in 2014 and in the longer term with new products currently under development, as well as increasing sales into new first responder markets.

Industrial Products sales decreased by 17.5%, $1,438 in the second quarter as compared to the same period in 2013, primarily as a result of decreases in demand for tire retreading, fire boots and declines in the mining sector. As well, the shift by a major customer to supply its raw material requirements in a partially mixed form to AEP for final processing continues to impact the business.

On a year-to-date basis, sales decreased by 17.5%, $2,880 as compared to the same period in 2013, primarily as a result of decreases in demand for tire retreading and military tires, fire boots and declines in the mining sector. For the remainder of the year, Industrial Products has a number of new product opportunities it is pursuing and demand in its traditional markets is improving.

Automotive

AirBoss Flexible Products ("AFP" or "Flexible") had sales of $31,949, year-to-date $62,681, driven by the strength in the US automotive manufacturing sector. AFP is expected to continue to perform at similar levels over the remainder of the year.

GROSS MARGIN

Consolidated gross margin for the quarter ended June 30, 2014 was $12,485 (2013: $8,096), an increase of $4,389 from 2013. This was primarily attributable to the impact of AFP, favourable product mix in Rubber Compounding and Engineered Products, continued focus on control of raw material purchases partially offset by the impact of lower volumes for Rubber Compounding and Engineered Products.

Rubber Compounding

Gross margin for Rubber Compounding decreased by $123 in the second quarter and $325 on a year-to-date basis as compared to the same periods in 2013 primarily as a result of lower sales. In both the second quarter and on a year-to-date basis the gross margin percentage increased as compared to the same periods in 2013 through continued focus on productivity initiatives and control over raw material purchasing, as well as a favourable product mix.

AirBoss Engineered Products

Gross margin for AirBoss Engineered Products decreased by $210 in the second quarter compared to 2013 primarily as a result of lower volume. The gross margin percentage increased primarily due to a change in product mix in both industrial products and defense products and production efficiencies which have been implemented. Gross margin on a year-to-date basis decreased $2,137 compared to the same period in 2013.

Automotive

Gross margin for Automotive was $4,722 for the second quarter and $9,809 on a year-to-date basis. AFP benefitted from positive prices and product mix changes as well as favourable material costs.

Rubber Compounding

For the three and six-month periods ended June 30, 2014, Rubber Compounding expenses decreased by $646 and $925 respectively. During the quarter, professional fees decreased by $90 (year-to-date $116) reflecting a decrease in legal fees and R&D testing. Computer expenses decreased $89 (year-to-date $137) due to fewer software enhancements and administrative salaries and benefits reduced by $15 (year-to-date $61). Further reductions to bad debts of $49 (year-to-date $59), and expense recoveries from R&D subsidies of $61 (year-to-date $44) and a legal settlement of $138 recognized in the second quarter of 2014, accounting for the decline in operating costs. Lower sales and marketing cost of $62 (year-to-date $210) were primarily due to reduction in compensation, meals and travel. During the period, foreign exchange gains of $66 (year-to-date $25) compared to loss of $74 (year-to-date $108).

AirBoss Engineered Products

For the three and six-month periods ended June 30, 2014, AEP's expenses increased by $45 and $104 respectively.

During the quarter, the increases are primarily related to supporting sales and marketing initiatives of $96. Research and development costs increased by $185, this was partially offset by government grants of $295 and increase in foreign exchange loss of $119 and decrease in other expenses of $60.

During the six-month period ended June 30, 2014, AEP selling and marketing initiatives increased by $141. Research and development costs increased by $285 and this was partially offset by government grants of $335 and increase in foreign exchange loss of $102 and decrease in other expenses of $90.

Automotive

For the three and six-month periods ended June 30, 2014, Automotive's operating expenses were $2,029 and $4,059 respectively and largely in line with expectations. The effective tax rate is impacted by the portion of income that is earned in Canada versus the US where the statutory tax rate is higher. The increase in the year to date effective tax rate is driven by higher US income from the Automotive sector.

The current quarter's tax expense was decreased by $9 relating to differences on filing its Canadian tax returns.

The Company conducts business in the US and in Canada. Each jurisdiction is subject to different tax rates and the Company's effective tax rate varies quarter to quarter depending on the mix and volume of business in each jurisdiction, as well as the impact of incentives and non-tax-deductible expenses.

NET INCOME AND EARNINGS PER SHARE

Net income in 2014 amounted to $3,780 and $6,261 for the quarter and year-to-date compared to $3,060 and $5,106 in 2013 primarily attributable to the positive impact by the Flexible Products acquisition. The basic and fully diluted net earnings per share in the second quarter and year-to-date were $0.17 and $0.16 (2013- $0.14 and $0.13) and $0.28 and $0.27 (2013- $0.23 and $0.22) based on basic and fully diluted shares outstanding of 22,767,479 (2013- 22,562,648) and 22,958,841 (2013- 22,706,274) respectively.

Items impacting comparability of quarters

- The fourth quarter of 2013 was impacted by transaction costs incurred in the acquisition of Flexible Products, increased stock compensation and offset by the contribution to earnings of Flexible.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

Overview

The first half of 2014 was positively impacted by the Flexible Products acquisition. Revenue increased by $37 million over 2013. The strong automotive performance helped offset the weather related impact to Rubber Compounding and the overall decline in the Defense business.

The Company expects to fund its 2014 operating cash requirements, including required working capital investments, capital expenditures and scheduled debt repayments from cash on hand, cash flow from operations and committed borrowing capacity. The operating facility provides financing up to USD $40 million (2013: CAD $35 million). No amounts are drawn against this facility at June 30, 2014.

In the six-month period ended June 30, 2014, $8,016 of cash was used in operations, (2013: $4,930 generated) $2,157 (2013: $2,932) was used for investing activities and $4,985 (2013: $2,524) was used in financing activities. Cash and cash equivalents decreased by $15,157 from $16,904 to cash balance of $1,739 adjusted for the effect of exchange rate fluctuations on cash held.

Operating activities

The factors contributing to the use of cash in operating activities compared to 2013 include:

- Higher income of $1,155 primarily related to Flexible Products partly offset by lower income in Rubber Compounding and AEP
- Higher finance costs of $811 as a result of additional loans after acquiring Flexible
- Higher tax expense of $480
- Net decrease in unrealized foreign exchange gains of $109
- Net increase in employee costs of $994 relating to additional costs recognized for the stock appreciation rights plan and restricted stock units. Stock option plan was offset by forfeitures during the period
- Cash used for working capital was $21,156 (2013: $2,800) for the six-months ended June 30, 2014

The accounting policies are provided in Note 3 to the annual consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2013 and have been applied consistently to all periods presented in the condensed consolidated financial statements.

In the first half of 2014, the following new interpretation has been applied in preparing these condensed consolidated financial statements.

IFRIC 21 clarifies what is the obligating event that gives rise to the recognition of a liability to pay a levy. IFRIC 21 is effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2014 and is applied retrospectively. The adoption of this standard did not have a material effect on the Company's financial results.

The accounting policies have been applied consistently by entities within the group.

New standard and interpretation not yet adopted

In July 2014 the IASB finalized "IFRS 9", "Financial Instruments". The standard is effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2018. Early adoption is permitted. The new standard includes revised guidance on the classification and measurement of financial assets and liabilities, and hedge accounting. The Company is currently assessing the impact of the new standard on its consolidated financial statements.

In May 2014, the IASB issued IFRS 15, "Revenue from Contracts with Customers" ("IFRS 15"). The new standard provides a comprehensive framework for recognition, measurement and disclosure of revenue from contracts with customers, excluding contracts within the scope of the standard on leases, insurance contracts and financial instruments. IFRS 15 becomes effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2017, and is to be applied retrospectively. Early adoption is permitted. The Company is currently assessing the impact of the new standard on its consolidated financial statements.

OUTLOOK

At the end of 2013 we outlined four areas of focus to drive AirBoss' performance initiatives on both the cost and revenue side:

1. Operating Margin Improvement
2. Global Growth
3. Leadership
4. Acquisitions

We have begun making changes within the business necessary to support these initiatives and while some of our markets are challenged and we expect them to remain so for the remainder of the year, we are seeing the results from our efforts.

We continue to aggressively pursue options to accelerate growth both organically and through additional strategic acquisitions and are encouraged by the many opportunities we see before us.
